PROPOSALS FOR PUBLISHING AN

HISTORY OF THE LIFE OF THE ILLUSTRIOUS GEORGE WASHINGTON,

Commander in Chief of the American Armies during our revolutionary war with Great Britain, first President of the United States, and since, Lieutenant General of the Army.

BY JOSEPH SCOTT,

Author of the Modern Geographical Dictionary, in four volumes, octavo.

OF the various methods which different writers pursue in order to convey useful knowledge to mankind, Biography stands confessedly among the first. There is none more interesting—none more instructive and entertaining. The histories of distinguished heroes, who have, by their exalted virtues, and noble and splendid actions, been the principal means of redeeming their respective countries from the corroding hand of tyranny, have in all ages been considered the most entertaining, instructive, and important to mankind. They afford example; and example is more powerful than precept. It strengthens, by a plain and easy mode of analogical reasoning, the principles of the timid, determines and fixes those that are wavering, and ultimately lays the basis for that harmony and coincidence of sentiment among the citizens, from which only, a nation can hope to derive rank, consequence and stability.

Impressed with lively sentiments of the eminent virtues of that distinguished HERO and PATRIOT, the history of whose life I have undertaken to write; it was not till after much reflection I resolved on issuing these proposals. —The following considerations induced me to this; First, having obtained in the course of an extensive correspondence, with many gentlemen of talents and information, a large stock of original materials concerning the life of this illustrious Citizen; to give form and body to these, in the manner of history, will preserve many important things that otherwise would most probably be lost. Secondly, as many of the most interesting transactions of his life, since he resigned his commission as Commander in chief of our revolutionary armies, are very imperfectly recorded, and little understood; yet the greater part of them being fresh in the memories of many, this must be the fittest time to embody them; before a succession of objects, which every day brings forth, wears off the minuter circumstances. There are many of these circumstances important and interesting; as it is universally acknowledged, that great actions, like immense rivers, flow from small beginnings.

CONDITIONS.

I. The Life of General Washington will contain nearly 400 pages octavo, printed on fine paper, and in a style of elegance equal to any work that has appeared from an American press.

II. It will be embellished with a striking likeness of the General, executed by one of the first artists.

III. Subscribers' names will be annexed, as patrons.

IV. Each subscriber is to pay two dollars, one half on subscribing, the remainder on the delivery of the work.

☞ Subscriptions in this city are received at No. 297 Arch street, next door to the north west corner of Eighth street.

Foreign Intelligence.

LONDON, November 7.

The last accounts communicated by the Clyde, are said to state, that seven of the French line sailed from Brest on the 13th ult: that they left in the outer road 39 of the line; and that on the same day a large fleet went in there under a strong convoy. We know that intelligence was some time before received that the combined enemy, then nearly equipped at Brest, amounted to 48 sail of the line, and think it highly probable that the strong convoy now alluded to, refers to the French squadron from Rochefort, or the Spanish squadron from Ferrol.

Lord Bridport has off Brest 34 sail of the line, as well and gallantly manned and equipped as any ships that ever put to sea; but, though we were to admit that even with so immense an inferiority as 34, to possible 54, we yet should come off victors, it is an experiment we ought not to venture, whilst so many of our ships, thirsting for conquest, remain idly in our ports. With the fortunate superiority, of every kind, which we possess, our's should now be bloodless victories. The atchievment of miracles could not augment our fame. It is to be hoped we shall not again trust to miracles for our salvation.

Baron Jacobi is stated to be on his route from Berlin to this country, as ambassador from his Prussian Majesty: Count Degenfeld attends him as secretary of legation.

Baron Cederstroem, who was charged with the convoy of a fleet of Swedish vessels bound to some port in France, and which, in consequence, was detained by our cruisers, was lately tried at Stockholm, by a Supreme Council of War, and sentenced to be shot, for not having fought the English squadron on the 12th ult. He was taken to the place of execution, but at the instant of awful preparation received the royal pardon.

Letters from Constantinople September 26, relate the receipt of dispatches from Sir Sidney Smith, dated from on board the Le Tigre, 74 guns, at Cyprus.

The distinguished valor of our troops, manifested upon all occasions, but particularly in the late unfortunate expedition to Holland, where their conduct, like that of our marine, was beyond all praise, well entitled them to the animated thanks they have received from their king and country. This flattering admission of merit is, unquestionably, amongst the soldier's most desired rewards; but it, singly, would be an ill expression of public gratitude for the sacrifices which have been made by these gallat fellows.

We feel that no sufficient pecuniary compensation could be made for the loss of eyes, legs, arms, or constitution; and conceive that philanthropy and policy alike forbid discarding upon his mere half pay the officer thus circumstanced, only because he is so, and without considering that his whole inheritance was probably expended to purchase the situation that occasioned him to be so mutilated.

A regulation alike honorable and beneficial to our navy gives a pension to each wounded officer, according to the extent of the injury he has received. An admiral who loses a limb, or experiences an inconvenience equal to such loss, is entitled to 1000l. per annum, and so progressively to the lieutenant, who receives 5s. per day in addition to his former allowance.

We regret that the pension, like the half pay stops with the Lieutenants; which, we trust, will not long continue to be the case; but on the present occasion shall only suggest the propriety of placing the army in this instance on a footing with the Navy, in order that the sufferings of our brave defenders, which ought by every possible means to be alleviated, may not be increased by a conception of partiality or injustice from that country for which they have endured so much, and to which they are still so affectionately devoted.

The Batavian Government, reprehensible as it is in other respects, has, in allotting pensions to the several persons who may suffer in fighting their battles, given an example worthy our imitation. Policy and gratitude demand that valour should be incited and rewarded; added to which, no description of the subject can be so well entitled to the bounty and protection of the state, as by those whom it is defended, and who in that severe and dangerous service are disqualified for all others.

We are too enlightened to be ashamed to borrow improvement, and too honourably proud to be second in justice or liberality to any other people. Our Navy and Army may, therefore, not only look for comfortable provision, when, either from national peace or individual infirmity, are no longer wanted; but expect, according to the practice of other nations, some honorary and pecuniary reward in the event of dignified and essential service.

The German papers state a report to have prevailed at Vienna on the 16th ult. that a colonel from the Archduke's army had been sent with dispatches to Paris, in answer to others received by his royal highness from the French government.

We have much reason to believe that though the expedition to Holland has proved unsuccessful, the Russian troops, at least will not be unemployed.

The army of the enemy in North Holland continued to receive reinforcements, even subsequent to the signing of the Convention with the Duke of York.

The Dublin Mail which arrived this morning brings a report that marquis Cornwallis has it in contemplation to retire from the lord lieutenancy of Ireland. It is a report not countenanced by any thing we have heard on this side the water. The marquis of Bath is mentioned in the Irish papers as his lordship's successor.

The archduke Joseph was married to a Russian Princess, the 16th, at a country seat of the Emperor, near Petersburgh.—Prince Charles of Schweris, was also to be married in a few days to another daughter of the Emperor.

LEGHORNE, Oct. 2.

A flag of truce has, within these few days, arrived from Bastia. It is said to have brought the news that the Corsican mountaineers had risen in a mass, and marched against Bastia, to massacre all the French who should be found there. This news wants confirmation.

FLORENCE, Oct. 4.

On the night of the 2d, advice was received that Rome, as well as Civita Vecchia, surrendered by capitulation to the combined troops. This news had been since fully confirmed. It was on the morning of the 30th that the surrender took place. The French garrison obtained leave to embark for France and to take away a certain number of covered waggons.

Immediately after the entry of the allied troops into Rome, the following proclamation was published.

D. Emanuel Bourcard, Field-Marshal in the service of his majesty the king of the two Sicilies, commander in chief of his armies in Romania, &c.

The troops of his majesty having come to re-establish tranquillity, and being desirous of respecting, and causing to be respected, the treaty concluded between the generals of the allied powers and the French general; we, therefore, inform all the inhabitants, that whoever shall commit the least disorder, or infringe the articles of the capitulation, which will be printed and published, shall be immediately condemned to death, and executed upon the spot.

Given at head-quarters, at Rome, Sept. 30.

(Signed)

BOURCARD, Field-Marshal.

October 7.

The surrender of Rome and Civita Vecchia took place in consequence of a convention concluded between Garnier, general of division, commanding the French, Italian, and other troops, and commodore Trowbride commanding the English squadron, which formed the blockade of Civita Vecchia. In consequence of this act an English detachment has been debarked, and has taken possession of this latter place. The city of Rome was put under the protection of general Bourcard, commander of the Neapolitan troops. The French garrison has retired with the honors of war, and repaired to Civita Vecchia, from whence it is to embark for France.

VENICE, Oct. 6.

According to letters from Pesaro, of the 1st of October, Ancona is still blockaded by sea, by seven Turkish ships, and twelve Russian gun-boats. The body of the troops who besiege that place by land have been reinforced by thirty companies of troops of the line from Dalmatia. Immediately after the junction of this reinforcement, there will be a great attack. A letter has been intercepted, addressed by citizen Meunier, commandant of Ancona, to citizen Garnier, commander of the French troops at Rome. After having stated his distressed situation, he proposes to the latter to abandon Rome, in order to join his division.

By other accounts, general Meunier is negociating for the surrender of that place.

ALEXANDRIA (Piedmont) Oct 7.

Yesterday, Melas, general of artillery, made a fresh attack on the side of Coni, and repulsed the enemy on all points. This important success assures the communication between Ceva and the Austrian camp under Cona. We also hear that a French corps, which had advanced from Gavi towards Pozzuolo-Furmigaro, has been repulsed with great loss.

BREGENTZ, Oct. 13.

We are assured that the French have evacuated Constance. However, no boat has yet arrived from that city.

STRASBURGH, October 16.

According to letters from Waldshut the Austrian troops entered Little Basle on the 8th. The French retired to the other side of the Rhine, after having carried away the bridge of boats. The enemy also broke the bridges of the Rhine near Rheinfelden, and Seckengen. They have entirely ruined those of Lauhenbourg and Kaiserstuhl. It is supposed the French will not delay entirely evacuating the Frickthal. The head-quarters of his Royal Highness the Archduke Charles were, on the 10th of October, still at Donaueschingen. We presume that the Austrians will continually pass the Rhine near Stein and Diessenhosen: they have constructed a great number of pontoons on this side.

October 20.

Private letters inform us, that since our troops entered Manheim, the bridge has been established, and that many divisions have passed it in order to advance in two columns against Heilbron and Brusehal.

The day before yesterday the grand train of artillery of the army of the Rhine set out for Frankenthal.

General Nea is advancing against Aschaffenbourg and Franconia, with a body of the army composed of 10,000 infantry and nearly as many cavalry.

October 22.

General Lecourbe is not to join the army of the Danube; according to repeated letters from him, received by the minister of war, he has resolved upon taking the chief command of the army of the Rhine.

ZURICH, October 26.

The reserve of the French army has made a movement. General Massena, apprehensive that Prince Charles, who advanced with his army into the Brisgaw, would attempt to turn us at Basle, has just sent the reserve to protect the Rhine on that point.

Our troops during the short time they remained in Constance pillaged a part of the town.

The Helvetic directory having formally forbidden the payment of the loan of 800,000 francs, imposed on the inhabitants of Zurich. General Massena has sent from that town the Swiss troops who did duty there, and has replaced them by French troops.

Justum et tenacem propositi virum,
Non civium ardor prava jubentium,

From the Independent Chronicle.

Mr. RHOADES,

THE democratic writers in your paper, exert themselves to create and embitter hatred of Britain, almost as much as of the Federal Government. National hatreds lead very surely to national controversies and wars; and yet, very lately, they seem to be full and overflowing with the love of peace. These false teachers are rather inconsistent with their own preaching; but it is not at all inconsistent with their hidden design, to inculcate that we should hate Great Britain with all our strength and with all our mind. In that way, they expect to bring our citizens to dislike and to change the laws and institutions we derive from our British forefathers, and which stand like a wall round the liberty and property that these apostles of revolution wish to invade.

Before we hate all that is English, as heartily as we are called upon to do, let us see what there is in that nation that is so hateful.

We are bound to allow that English blood is good blood, because it flowed in the veins of our venerable ancestors. It is not coward's blood, that is or ever was afraid of thirty millions of Frenchmen, though they are only 21 miles distant from that little island. If I mistake not, your writers have not much of that blood, as they admonish us, at the distance of 3000 miles from our foe, to ask for peace, and when we are denied it, to ask again and still more urgently again and again, till we obtain it from the forgiveness of the French Directory. The democrats have little right therefore, to pour contempt on the "cowardly English," in the words of the French Convention after Lord Howe's victory over the French fleet June 1st, 1794.

There never was a colony settled by a better sort of men than our New-England forefathers. They came from the smaller sea ports and country places of England, and afford a very honorable specimen of the piety, morals and learning of the nation at that day. In the places where trade and manufactures have not swelled the size of the towns, travellers tell us, the English are now very much what they were between 1620 and 1640.—They were then and they are still great supporters of a regular worship, and of a learned, excellent clergy; of charity schools and of all institutions for the enlightening, comforting, and employing the poor. No country on earth expends more, or is half so free to expend its treasures for charity to their own poor, or for any object of general benevolence and benefit to mankind.

But their government is a monarchy; so it is, and the English appear to like it. Let them keep it to themselves, and let us keep our republicanism. We are not obliged to run mad, like so many Quixotes, because the English are not yet encouraged by the bad account the Democratic writers give of our republican system, and its vile administration, as they represent it, to kill King George, and set up a five headed republic. The jacobin party have raised three rebellions, and Kentucky assures the world it is ripe for another, and yet we are told that we ought to hate the English and pray (or rather drink rum and roast oxen) for their downfall and subjugation and shame, because they will, like fools, stick to their cursed monarchy, and refuse to taste the intoxicating cup of revolution. Some persons doubt exceedingly whether such a country as England would be happy, and reasonably sure of remaining happy and tranquil under a republican form; and as it would cost a trifle of blood to try the experiment, they do not blame the nation for shewing some loathness and slowness in beginning the good work.

In many other respects, our plans of government are like the English. We have no king, and it would be a terrible curse to this, and perhaps to the two or three next generations of America to set up a king here. We do pretty well without one, by our elective single chief magistrate. Our legislature, our law courts, and our laws, are like the English. The very best safe guards and defences of all these good things are English, and that perhaps is the cause why the Democrats are forever trying to undermine them.

All these observations afford no reason why we should take ill usage from English or French. But they give a natural direction to our resentments by marking out the objects on which they should fall, and the just limits that should confine them. I wish, for one, there was a little more indignation produced by national insults and injuries.—I beg leave to doubt however when we are the most angry with the British ministry, whether it is natural to hate our whole kindred, or reasonable to affect scorn for the English nation. Truth like this may offend some weak brethren, but what harm can it do?

ODE TO THALIARCHUS.

Liberally translated from Horace, by Miss Seward

In dazzling whiteness, lo! Soracte towers,
As all the mountains were one heap of snow!
Rush from the loaded woods the glittering showers;
The frost bound waters can no longer flow.

Let plentious billets, on the glowing hearth,
Dissolve the ice-dart ere it reach the veins;
Bring mellow wines to prompt convivial mirth;
Nor heed th' arrested streams, or slippery plains

High heaven, resistless in his varied sway,
Speaks! The wild elements contend no more;
Nor then, from raging seas, the foamy spray
Climbs the dark rocks, or curls upon the shore.

And peaceful then yon aged ash shall stand;
In breathless calm the dusky cypress rise;
To-morrow's destiny the Gods command,
To day is thine;—enjoy it and be wise!

Youth's rapiant tide too swiftly rolls away;
Now, in its flow, let pleasures round thee bloom;
Join the gay dance, awake the melting day,
Ere hoary tresses blossom for the tomb!

Spears, and the steed, in busy camps impel;
And when the early darkness veils the groves,
Amid the leafless boughs let whispers steal,
While frolic beauty seeks the near alcoves.

Soft as the tiptoe steps the mazes rove,
A laugh, half smother'd, thy pleas'd dear shall meet,
And sportive in the charming wiles of love,
Betray the artifice of coy retreat.

And then the ring, or, from her snowy arm,
The promis'd bracelet, may thy force employ.
Her feign'd reluctance, height'ning every charm,
Shall add new value to the ravish'd toy.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 13.

Samuel J. Cabelle, Esq. from Virginia, appeared this day, was qualified, and took his seat.

Mr. Smith presented a memorial of Paul Bentalou and others, merchants, of Baltimore, owners of the ship Flora, stating that they had, previous to the passing of the act, suspending intercourse with France, and her possessions, dispatched said vessel on a voyage to the Isle of France: that upon her return to the United States, and entry at the port of Edgartown, in the State of Massachusetts, she was seized, and detained by the Collector of that port: that every security was offered for permission of said vessel to come round to the port of Baltimore that her cargo might be disposed of, but was refused: that application was then made to the Secretary of the Treasury, by whose order she was at length liberated; and further stating, that by this unlawful detention, the memorialists had suffered a loss of 13,000 dollars, and praying for such relief in the premises as may be seen fit—referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Otis, from the committee of defence made a report in part, proposing the adoption of a resolution for suspending the recruiting service, until, in the opinion of the President, imminent danger of invasion shall be deemed to exist, which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. D. Foster, from the committee of claims, to whom were referred the petition of George Farracut, with the report of the Secretary of War made thereon, reported, that, in the opinion of the committee, the report of the Secretary, which is unfavorable to the petitioner, ought to be adopted, and the same was concurred in by the House.

Mr. Platt presented a petition of Jacob Mead, of the county of Oneida, late of the county of Dutchess, state of New York, stating, that while in the office of ensign of a militia regiment, during the late war, he had received a wound which at this day prevented his getting a livelihood by his profession, and therefore praying to be allowed a pension, which was read and referred to the committee of claims.

On motion of Mr. Read the report of the Secretary of War, on the subject of the national armoury, at Springfield, Massachusetts, was referred to the committee of Defence for consideration and report, by bill, or otherwise.

On motion of Mr. De Foster the message of the President, containing sundry statements from the Directory of the Mint, was referred to a select committee for consideration.

Mr. Hill called up the resolution which he laid on the table on Friday last, instructing and authorising the Secretary of State to procure and transmit to the Governor of the state of North Carolina, a number of copies of the laws of the United States, equal to the number heretofore authorised, which had been destroyed by fire.

Mr. Nicholas wished to know, if in order to furnish these copies, it would be requisite to print another edition?

Mr. Hill replied, that he had understood there were a sufficient number of copies on hand, and that the Secretary of State had anticipated the adoption of the resolution, by transmitting several copies to the Governor of North Carolina.

On motion, the resolution was committed to a select committee.

Mr. Macon said, he wished early in the session to call the attention of the House to a subject which his constituents anxiously looked up to; it had been already twice discussed in this House; and however unsuccessful, he conceived it his duty to renew it; he therefore laid a resolution on the table for the repeal of the 2d section of the act commonly called the Sedition Law.

On Motion of Mr. Nicholas, the committee of claims were instructed to enquire whether any, and if any, what alterations ought to be made in the law passed the 12th June, 1798, respecting loan office and final settlement certificates, indents of interest, &c. and that they report by bill or otherwise.

On motion of Mr. Sewall, the Committee of Commerce and Manufactures, were instructed to report, by bill or otherwise, the expediency of renewing and continuing the acts relative to the fisheries of the United States, and for the government of the fishermen employed therein; and whether any, and if any, what alterations are necessary to be made in said acts.

On motion of Mr. Jones, the Committee of Revisal and Unfinished Business, were instructed to report a bill to revive and continue in force an act declaring the consent of Congress to an act of the state of Maryland, relative to Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations.

Mr. Claiborne presented to the House two petitions, from the inhabitants of the Mississippi territory; the first complaining of the administration of the territorial executive, and also, of the ordinance which had been adopted by Congress, for their government, and praying an amelioration thereof; the second stated, that most of the citizens of that territory, were settled on land which had been granted to them, by the Spanish government; and praying, that the same may be confirmed by an act of Congress.

The first petition was ordered to be referred to a select committee; and the second was committed to the committee [illegible] were referred [illegible] derson and [illegible] others.

A written message was received from the President of the United States, by his secretary, Mr. Shaw, in the following words:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives

A report made to me on the fifth of this month, by the Secretary of War, contains various matters, in which the honor and safety of the nation are deeply interested. I transmit it therefore to Congress, and recommend it to their serious consideration.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, Jan. 13th, 1800.

The report of the Secretary of War, which is very lengthy, recommends the establishment of the following military institutions—1st, a Fundamental School for the instruction of engineers, miners, &c. the present plan of assimilating artillerists and engineers, the Secretary conceives incomplete, and recommends their separation.—2d, A School of Artillery.—3d, School for Cavalry and Infantry.—And 4th, A School of the Navy. Each to be governed by a director, &c. The seite of the school of artillery to be in the vicinity of a foundry of cannon, the manufacture of small arms, &c, that of the Navy in a situation where practical experiments may be made.

The Message and report were referred to the Committee of Defence; and ordered to be printed.

The House went into a committee of the whole on the bill to repeal part of an act intituled "An act for mitigating or remitting the forfeitures, penalties, and disabilities accruing in certain cases therein mentioned, Mr. Morris in the chair, when the bill was agreed to without amendment, and ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

Adjourned.

On Saturday last, an operation for the Stone was skilfully performed, by Dr. Philip Syng Physick, in the Pennsylvania Hospital, upon a young man from Baltimore county, aged near 17 years; who came to this for relief.

The stone extracted is an oval, measuring five and a quarter inches in circumference lengthways, and four inches over it in the middle. Its weight is 1 oz. 2 drahms and 49 grains. The patient, from every appearance, is likely to do well.

December 19.

PROVIDENCE, January 8.

Extract of a letter from capt. PERRY, of the frigate General Greene, to a gentleman of this town, dated off Cape Francois, December 5, 1799.

"Since I last had the pleasure of writing to you, I have taken a schooner under Danish colors, bound from Gonaives to St. Thomas, laden with coffee, cotton, &c. supposed to be French property.—Also, in company with the Boston, have retaken an American schooner, in possession of the French, and taken a brig bound from Jeremie to St. Thomas, very richly laden. She shewed Danish colors, but has every evidence of being French property.

"The American schooner leaves us to-day for Boston, where I have consented she should be sent, only in compliance with captain Little's earnest wishes, as he has not yet sent any thing in.

"We wait Commodore Talbot's return from the Mole, where he had been for the purpose of watering, when we shall receive his advice and directions respecting the schr. taken by the General Greene, and the brig; and according to all probability, they will be immediately sent to America.

"The political situation and conduct of the government of St. Domingo, I am sorry to say, wears daily more the appearance of duplicity and baseness, and I am now fully convinced that the government will no longer regard their treaty than they find it absolutely to their own interest. They have already shewn their want of faith in several instances, and have even gone so far as to imprison an officer of the Boston. By the schooner John, which left the Cape this day, I am informed that Port Paix and Jean Rabel have revolted, and declared in favor of Rigaud, which has caused much alarm in the Cape. The inclosed list of Toussaint's vessels you will be pleased to have published."

List of gen. Toussaint's present force by sea.

The gun-boat the Vengeon, commanded by capt. Leuroix, mounting one 6 pounder, one 12 pounder, four 4 pounders and two 12 pound carronades, complement 80 men.

Extract of another letter from Captain Perry, dated off Cape Francois, December 14, 1799.

"Commodore Talbot left this place about 17 days since, to go to the Mole to water, and expected to have been back in 8 or 10 days—we are rather alarmed for his safety as we well know there is no dependence on Toussaint or his administration. By a letter from Dr. Stephens I have been informed, that there has an insurrection broke out at Port de Paix, Jean Rabel, and the vicinity of the Mole, headed by Gollard. I have ordered the Herald down to the Mole, with orders to send her boat in, should the Constitution be there, with the above information to Commodore Talbot. What will be the event of the insurrection is beyond human calculation."

Extract of a letter from Captain Holden Longford, to the owners of the brig Murfree of this place, dated Sineypuckson Beach. December 15, 1799.

"I take on me the disagreeable task of informing you of the loss of your brig Murfree and cargo, on the 11th instant, on Syneypuckson Beach, about 30 miles to the Southward of the Capes of Philadelphia; the day following there came on a gale from the Eastward, and she became almost a heap of lumber, a considerable part of her was buried in the sand; we are endeavouring to save all we can, but it will be almost a total loss."

The ship Abigail, of this port, Captain Cole, has returned after a successful Whaling voyage of two years, with two thousand barrels of oil.

Captain Pardon Sheldon, from Virginia, four days since, off Block Island, spoke a ship from Batavia, bound for Boston; also a brig, prize to the frigates Boston and General Greene, bound likewise for Boston.

Just Published,

A COMPENDIOUS SYSTEM

Of Practical Surveying and Dividing of land; briefly comprized under the following heads, viz.

TWENTY-THREE Geometrical Definitions, eleven Geometrical Positions, exhibiting to view the properties and dependencies of triangles; followed by problems and examples preparatory to Trigonometry, heights and distances. Then fifteen problems and examples necessarily previous to calculating a Survey succeeded by seven surveys, the area of the four first is found geometrically, and of the whole number by difference of latitude and departure, shewing how to take an inaccessible boundary, find the bearing and distance of the closing line without running it, also the distances to an inaccessible corner from the two adjacent corners, followed by examples of offsets on to winding streams of water, shewing how to ascertain the area without the trouble of measuring the windings with chains and instruments—a crooked water course straitened, and a quantity of land on each side found by these offsets.

Ten examples of dividing land, with many sub-divisions, leading into the most critical circumstances that can occur in practice; an example of Intersections, and an example shewing how the bearings of a field may be truly taken where the needle is attracted, altho' the attraction may vary in quantity and denomination at every station; examples shewing the method of measuring by the chain only. All the rules are clear and explicit. This work contains the tables of difference of latitude and departure and of logarithms.

Orders sent to Joseph and James Cruckshank, Booksellers, No. 87, High-street, Philadelphia, Bonsall and Niles, 173, Market Street, Baltimore, or the Subscriber in Wilmington (Del.) will be duly attended to.

Those who have the care of subscription papers for this work, are requested to send their respective numbers as soon as possible, to whom the quota's will be sent agreeably to the proposals.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE time being fixed on, when the MILITARY LAND (commonly called Knox's) WARRANTS, granted to the United States' army, are to be registered and located,—the subscribers have explored that tract of land on which those warrants are to be laid; with a view, and for the purpose of offering their services as locaters.

We take the liberty of suggesting, "that weare at least as well acquainted with the situation, quality of the soil, &c. of the different townships in the aforesaid tract, as any other person:" this will, perhaps, appear more clearly, by observing, that WILLIAM C. SCHENK assisted in running the Indian boundary line; at which time he considerably traversed that tract: he also assisted in surveying and laying it off into townships, and at other times ranged over it, to gain information. But to obtain a more complete and accurate knowledge, we have lately spent between two and three months, with several assistants, in particularly examining the different townships and quarter townships; by which means we have acquired an accurate knowledge of the whole district.—We now offer our services to the public, as Locaters, with assurances that we will locate every persons warrants intrusted to us to the best advantage, agreeably to their rights of location, which is to be determined according to law. For our services we demand the one equal tenth part, either in lands or warrants, when we locate a full tract, of four thousand acres or more, for one person or firm; the land to be taken in a square, at a corner of the tract; which corner is to be equitably determined before the time of location.—The one equal sixth part, in cash or warrants, when we connect and locate any amount less than four thousand acres. We will be in Philadelphia from December next, until after the time of location, to transact this business. Any person wishing to satisfy himself further, will please to call on us, by letter, (postage paid) or otherwise; when due attention will be paid, and such vouchers may be seen as we have to offer, which we hope will be satisfactory.

The Swift-Sure,

A NEW LINE OF STAGES

NOW RUNNING BETWEEN

PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK

By the short and pleasant road of Bustleton, Newtown, Scotch-Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the popularity of the country through which it passes, with sundry other advantages, which render it so far preferable to the Old road through Bristol, Brunswick, &c. long ago suggested the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough-Fare from Philadelphia to New-York. During the present year, a minute survey of this has been taken, and its superiority over the Old Road, both in winter and summer, has been clearly ascertained.—There are good bridges over all the other Waters but the Delaware, and here the crossing is performed with ease, safety and in less than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is several miles shorter than the old road, but this is among the least of its advantages, because daily experience proves to us, that dispatch as well as comfort in traveling principally depend on the goodness of the road and the levelness of the country, and, in these respects, the New-Road is, beyond all comparison, the best. It presents none of those rocky hills, which render the Old Road so fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The soil, too, for the greater part, is such as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little dust in summer, which circumstance added to the beauty of the country, and a considerable proportion of shade, must always render traveling in the latter season peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift Sure starts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning, (Sunday excepted) from the GREEN TREE, opposite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth street, goes through Frankford to Bustleton, where it stops to Breakfast; from Bustletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny-town through Hopewell, Millstone, Bound-brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it stops at Springfield to breakfast, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For seats in New-York, application may be made to Edward Bardin, Old Coffee house, to A. Mathieu corner of Nassau and John streets, to B. Many no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich street and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42 Broad street.

Fare for passengers, Five Dollars

Way passengers 6 Cents per Mile

Each passenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage taken on by a passenger, will be charged 2½ cents per pound weight.

With respect to packages sent on without passengers, the proprietors presume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of stages, they think must meet with general approbation, They pledge themselves to make good every package on the following conditions. The person who delivers the package at the office shall see it entered in the stage-book, for which entry he shall pay 2 cents; he will then state the value of the package, and pay (exclusive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as insurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for instance if he estimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent, and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar insurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few persons it is presumed, will dislike this regulation; it will however be optionable with every one to avail himself of this security or not. But the proprietors think it right to state very explicitly, that they will be responsible for the safe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an insurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the distribution of the route, the greatest care has been taken to fix on such places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the passengers at the most reasonable rates. The stages are well equipped, furnished with fleet and steady horses, and committed to the care of intelligent sober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themselves live at the different towns and villages where the stages will stop, so that the conduct of the persons they employ is continually an object of their attention.—They take care also to see that the passengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no sort of chicanery or insolence is practised upon them; in short, they have spared neither pains nor expence to render the SWIFT-SURE the very best line of stages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month, during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia and New-York. Every passenger has found the road to surpass very far all that has been said of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviour of their drivers, and the treatment at Taverns spoken of with the highest satisfaction.
